Help me to build a better life for Janet

Neighbour Ian working on life-changing flat renovation

BY JESSICA ODUBAYO

IAN DEVLIN is a man on a mission – to transform his neighbour's terribly run-down home and with it her quality of life. But he can't do it all on his own.

So the 31-year-old has launched a passionate appeal for Tower Hamlets residents – skilled trades people and others – to help him carry out desperately needed repairs and accessibility improvements to 73-year-old Janet's flat.

Former construction worker Ian, now a teaching assistant at Ian Mikardo School in Talwin Street, Bow, was a toddler living with his mum in the flat next door when he met Janet 28 years ago.

"When I was younger, I didn't take any notice of Janet," he told East End Life.

But when, a couple of weeks ago, he stepped into his neighbour's flat for the first time, he was shocked by what he saw – a cluttered property and in most parts inaccessible to Janet, who has limited mobility and numerous other health issues.

Ian added: "I often knock at Janet's door to ask how she is and keep an eye out for her. But when I visited a couple of weeks ago and stepped through the door, I saw that she lives in her front room and has to crawl up the stairs to use the bathroom.

"Upstairs, the sink is cracked, the bath is probably older than I am, wallpaper is falling off the walls, and there is state of disrepair."

Employment fair offers a key to the future

BY RAJU MIAH

MORE than 100 young people attended a careers fair at Mile End Ecology Pavilion.

MyFuture, hosted by the council on July 23, was aimed at 16- to 19-year-olds, and those up to the age of 25 with additional needs.

About 25 employers and training providers, including communications giant BT, had stalls at the fair, giving young people the chance to speak directly to them and apply for jobs, apprenticeships and courses on the day.

Mayor of Tower Hamlets, John Biggs, said: “Earlier in the year the council revealed that 3.4 per cent of young people in Tower Hamlets are currently not in education, employment or training.

“Events like these work in partnership with businesses of all sizes to continue to reduce the amount of young people leaving compulsory education without a next step forward.”

Amelia White, 17, secured an interview for a full time role. She said: “I am very happy that I attended and it was definitely worthwhile.

“I wouldn’t have known about the opportunities available if I didn’t turn up.”

Amelia went on to impress the interview panel this week and has been offered a place on the company’s paid apprenticeship programme, which she will start in September.

Pupils take a walk on the wildside for 200ft mural

BY JESSICA ODUBAYO

INSTEAD of looking out onto grey hoarding, crumbling brick and layers of dust, residents on an estate being regenerated, can see a bright wildlife mural featuring exotic animals.

Pupils at Cubitt Town Junior School on the Isle of Dogs, helped complete the 200ft mural on the New Union Wharf Estate, where many of their families live.

Social housing landlord East Thames housing association and developer Hill Partnerships teamed up with the school to commission artist Mürüde Mehmet to create the mural.

Mürüde worked with New Union Wharf residents, pupils and volunteers to turn her sketched outline into a vibrant and colourful piece of art.

The UK branch of global company Johnson Controls helped East Thames to finance the project through its employee-driven volunteer programme Blue Sky Involve.

The estate, owned and managed by East Thames, is undergoing large-scale regeneration which will see 189 residences

Happy times as everyone celebrates the completion of the murals replaced with 399 modern homes.

Elaine Ambrose, East Thames rehousing and regeneration manager at New Union Wharf, said; "This was a wonderful opportunity for everyone to produce something vibrant for the residents. Wildlife was chosen because nature is always regenerating just like this estate. We've had a wonderful reaction to it – people stopping to admire it and some helped us with the painting."

Devontay, 10, a Cubitt Town Junior School pupil and New Union Wharf resident, said;

"The new painting puts a smile on my face when I see it every day. The monkey reminds me of me when I was younger."

The painting will remain on the estate until 2018.

Your chance to help make a difference

"It is not fair for an older person to have to live like that," Ian continued.

Janet (pictured below with Ian) explained that she moved into the flat in Knapp Road in 1980 and bought it under the Right to Buy scheme in 2002.

But a series of health problems including prolapsed discs in her back, torn cartilage in her knees, ripped tendons, blood clots and breathing problems have made life a struggle and the flat has been left to decay.

But things are now looking up. So far Ian has ripped out and largely replaced Janet's ageing bathroom, treated mould that was growing on the walls and written to scores of companies to ask for donations of materials.

Screwfix donated vouchers, which paid for glue and bathroom tiles, which Ian spent days fitting. Now the good samaritan wants the community to come together to restore the rest of the flat and make it suitable for Janet.

"I don't just want to make the accommodation look better, I want to make it accessible," he said.

"Whatever people can offer will be welcome, be it a professional skill or a donation towards material."

"We all live near someone who needs a helping hand, and it's easy to forget that a bit of assistance can make all the difference to someone who's finding life hard."

Janet said: "Although I have a brother who lives outside London and a nephew who leads a busy life, I have very few contacts in the community.

"I can't believe what Ian is doing for me. This could really change my life."

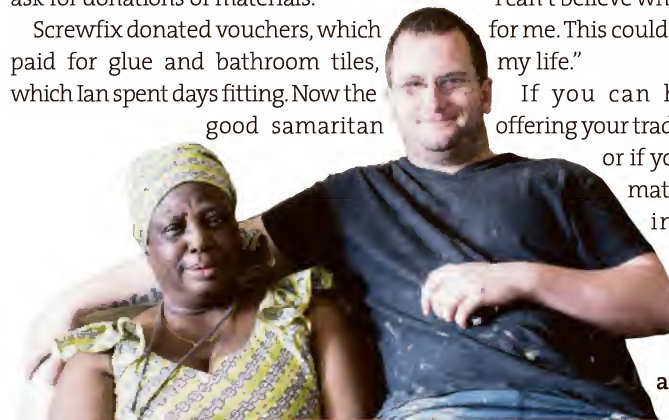

If you can help out by offering your trade or DIY skills, or if you can donate materials or assist in any other way, call Ian on 07983 723 212 or email ian.fiy@aol.co.uk

Plan to use Right to Buy receipts

BY SAM GOUGH

PLANS are taking shape for how the council can provide more affordable housing, by investing £20.5 million of Right to Buy receipts.

At a meeting on Tuesday, July 28, Mayor John Biggs and his cabinet agreed proposals aimed at helping address rising prices and a waiting list for social housing that stands at 19,650 people.

These included investing £5 million of Right to Buy receipts in existing developments including Dame Colet House, Poplar Baths, and four smaller sites. This would see 110 affordable homes built.

A selective programme of 'buy backs' of properties on council estates managed by Tower Hamlets Homes was also proposed, along with four new council house developments, which would see 180 affordable housing units built.

Mayor Biggs, said: "Finding the funding to replenish the social housing stock is of utmost necessity and is a real priority for us as a council – there is significant need for additional housing in Tower Hamlets.

"Rising house prices are pricing ordinary people out of the borough. The impact of the Government's budget on social housing rents puts a real squeeze on the council and other housing providers and makes it even more challenging to meet the real need for affordable housing.

"This is a move in the right direction. It sets out our desire to make good use of Right to Buy receipts, and it recognises the importance that we place in investing in social housing."

Council officers will now work on the plans and in September present a detailed strategy on how the money will be spent.

News in brief

Raise crime fears

POPLAR residents can raise their concerns about crime at a public meeting on Tuesday, August 18.

Police Borough Commander Chief Superintendent Andy Ewing, and the council's head of community safety, Andy Bamber, will appear on a panel to answer questions from the public at Langley Hall, Aberfeldy Street, E14 from 6.30-8pm.

Local police ward panels, Neighbourhood Watch and the Independent Advisory Group will also be there, along with Cllr Shiria Khatun, deputy mayor and cabinet member for community safety.

It is the second in a series of Residents' Question Time events, which Cllr Khatun said allowed people to air their crime concerns so the council and police could respond to them.

She added: "It also means that residents can hear directly about new initiatives to help combat crime and anti-social behaviour."

Terrorism charge

A MAN from Whitechapel has been charged with inviting support for a proscribed terrorist organisation.

Mohammed Rahman, 32, of Sidney Street, E1 was charged with inviting support for ISIL, also known as ISIS or the Islamic State, between June 29, 2014 and March 6, 2015.

Anjem Choudary, 48, of Hampton Road, Ilford was also charged with the same offence, which is contrary to section 12 of the Terrorism Act 2000.

Both men were remanded in custody by Westminster magistrates on Wednesday, August 5.

They will next appear at the Old Bailey on August 28.

Name one of London's lifesavers

BY JESSICA ODUBAYO

LONDON'S Air Ambulance is calling on children to come up with new names for its life-saving flying machines.

As part of its Your London, Your Helicopter campaign for a second emergency medical chopper, the charity is inviting young people under the age of 16 to submit a name for one of the aircraft, along with the reason for choosing it.

The two best reasons will be picked, and the winning names will be inscribed on the charity's aircraft.

The lucky winners will also get to visit the air ambulance helipad, on top of The Royal London Hospital, Whitechapel, to see their chosen name in all its glory. Neil Jeffers, chief pilot, said: "Every time we fly, we deliver the hospital to the patient's side up to eight times faster than in a rapid response car.

"Every incident we go to via helicopter, we are airborne within just a few minutes, flying over the busy city landscape to anywhere within the M25 to the side of those most in need.

"This competition is a brilliant opportunity for two lucky people to get their chosen name flying with us too, and become a part of our life-saving operations."

Parents or guardians must enter their children's suggestion on their behalf and are encouraged to donate to the campaign for a second helicopter.

The air ambulance team of doctors, pilots, paramedics and fire crew will be judging the entries. All name submissions must be 15 characters or less and the deadline for entries is Friday, August 28 at 5pm.

Protest over new museum

PROTESTERS gathered at 12 Cable Street last Tuesday, August 4, over the opening of a museum.

The council approved a planning application in January to extend the former shop to create a museum celebrating the women of the East End.

However, when hoardings were removed to reveal the new shop front, the venue had been turned into a museum celebrating Jack the Ripper.

Jemima Broadbridge, a campaigner who helped organise the protest, said east London had a proud tradition of women campaigning for social change.

She said: "These women and their have been shamefully overlooked by a museum that seeks to present women only as victims of London's most notorious serial killer."

£9.6m in grants shared between good causes

BY SAM GOUGH

MORE than 100 local third sector organisations will share £9.6 million from the council.

Commissioners appointed by the Government to manage the council's grant making agreed the funding at a public meeting at the Town Hall on Wednesday, July 29. It was the culmination of a five-month process, involving extensive consultation with third sector groups.

Organisations working within the borough were invited to apply for funding to help the council to achieve strategic objectives in the community plan, reducing inequality in the borough.

There were 368 applications in total.

Successful applicants include:

- The Council of Voluntary Services, which helps to support and ensure good practice in other third sector organisations.
- Half Moon Young People's Theatre, which will receive £20,000 to deliver workshops for young people.

Half Moon Young People's Theatre will get £20,000

■ Mind in Tower Hamlets will receive just under £70,000 to lead a project aiming to help people with mental health issues find work.

■ City Gateway, which will get £16,000 to lead a project empowering women to become leaders and spokespersons in their communities.

Sir Ken Knight, Lead Commissioner, said: “This money has been a vital source of funding for the borough's third sector organisations for many years.

“The grants will provide a platform for these organisations to continue their work for the next three years.

“The new criteria we introduced this time around has streamlined the application process to ensure that the people of Tower Hamlets really benefit from this funding.”

Pledge to boost health visitor numbers by 50%

THE council has set itself a target of increasing the number of qualified health visitors by more than 50 per cent, to help give children a better start in life.

It aims to have 95 health visitors by 2017, up from the 63 expected to be employed when it takes over responsibility for providing early years public health services this year.

In October, responsibility will transfer from NHS England to local authorities for the Healthy Child Programme which deals with kids up to five years old. This includes the health visiting service, which provides qualified nurses to visit children in their homes to assess a family's emotional and physical and wellbeing.

It also includes the family nurse partnership, which provides targeted support for vulnerable, teenage first-time mothers.

The initial six-month allocation of funding for this work from the Department of Health to the council is £3.855 million – £315k more than was first allocated following a challenge from the council.

Mayor of Tower Hamlets John Biggs said: “Public health is arguably most important for children in their infancy and we look forward to delivering a high level of service to children from the moment they are born right up until they become 19 years old.”

The council already provides public health services to children aged 5-19 and for those up to 25 years with special educational needs and disabilities.

New strategy designed to protect young people

A NEW strategy to tackle anti-social groups and youth violence has been introduced by the council.

It aims to protect young people from all forms of exploitation, violence and abuse, and targets disruptive and criminal activities in public spaces.

It also encompasses violence against women and girls; child sexual exploitation; challenges associated with radicalisation and extremism; hate crime and alcohol and substance misuse.

The strategy will use intelligence from the police, NHS, housing and other agencies and offers the borough new enforcement and intervention measures against those who persist in anti-social behaviour.

Employment, health and housing support will be offered to ex-offenders, if they want to change their lifestyle.

Mayor of Tower Hamlets, John Biggs said: “Those who inflict violence or hate crime on people who work, live or visit the borough will not be tolerated.

“We, alongside our partners, will do all we can to ensure Tower Hamlets remains a safe and cohesive place for all.”

Cllr Shiria Khatun, deputy mayor and cabinet member for Community Safety added: “This initiative will add resources to the safeguarding of our young people and make our community safer.”

Tower Hamlets already has a nationally recognised, best practice Family Wellbeing model in place which safeguards and promotes the welfare of children, young people and families.

The benefits of breastfeeding

Evidence shows that babies who are breastfed are at a lower risk of gastroenteritis, respiratory infections, obesity, type 1 & 2 diabetes and allergies – and it is good for mums too.

Useful information

Feeding support to mums at work

News from Tower Hamlets Public Health

THIS year, World Breast Feeding Week, held during August 1-7, focused on helping women to combine breast feeding and work.

Breastfeeding is the healthiest way to feed your baby. Exclusive breastfeeding (giving your baby breast milk only) is recommended for around the first six months (26 weeks) of your baby's life.

After that, giving your baby breast milk alongside other food will help them continue to grow and develop healthily. You can continue breastfeeding for a year or two or longer.

Many women are able to continue breastfeeding when they return to work. The baby can take expressed milk from a cup (or bottle for babies under 6 months) and enjoy solid foods, then breastfeed when at home, which helps maintain a strong relationship during the transition period.

The re-commissioned Baby Feeding Support Service was formally launched on August 4 and is delivered by Barts Health NHS Trust in partnership with The Breastfeeding Network and commissioned by the council.

The service is here to support mothers with baby and infant feeding, whatever decisions they make about how they want to feed their baby.

Tower Hamlets is one of just six London boroughs to achieve full Unicef Baby Friendly Breastfeeding accreditation and was the first to be accredited across hospital, community health services and children's centres.

The team of baby feeding specialists have extensive knowledge and experience of supporting families with responsive feeding and relationship building, supporting exclusive breastfeeding and breastfeeding when formula milk is given as well, expressing and bottle feeding with expressed milk or formula, returning to work, introducing solid foods and stopping breastfeeding.

There is well-established evidence that breastfeeding is beneficial for both mother and baby.

Breastfed babies have:

- less chance of diarrhoea and vomiting and having to go to hospital as a result;
- fewer chest and ear infections and fewer visits to hospital as a result;
- less chance of being constipated;
- less likelihood of becoming obese and therefore developing type 2 diabetes and other obesity-related illnesses later in life;
- less chance of developing eczema.

Any amount of breastfeeding has a positive effect. The longer you breastfeed, the longer the protection lasts and the greater the benefits.

Infant formula doesn't provide the same protection. Breast milk adapts as your baby grows to meet its changing needs.

There are also huge benefits to mothers too. It:

- lowers your risk of getting breast and ovarian cancer;
- naturally uses up to 500 calories a day;
- saves money – infant formula, the sterilising equipment and feeding equipment can be costly;
- can help to build a strong bond between you and your baby as breastfeeding releases certain hormones which promote maternal feelings and behaviour.

Strong early relationships and a stable and loving environment are all conducive to babies' healthy emotional, social and physical development.

MAYOR OF LONDON

A foggy day in London town

In her new book, Christine Corton takes an in depth look at the fog that became a part of East End Life – poisonous and malevolent, yet somehow viewed with affection

History

London's own particular pea soup

BY JOHN RENNIE

A 'LONDON PARTICULAR', thick and yellow as pea soup, wrapping itself around buildings, creeping through doors and windows and choking throats – the oppressive, suffocating fogs that afflicted the East End of London for hundreds of years are hard for us to imagine now.

Although too many Londoners still become ill (and indeed die too earlier) because of poison in the air, the skies over the city are brilliantly clean compared to those of recent memory.

And, as academic Christine Corton reminds us in her new book London Fog: The Biography, it is really very recent indeed (for those of us of a certain age).

Until the Clean Air Act of 1956, we were stumbling along pavements within an impenetrable blanket, caused by the unique combination of misty damp East End air, collecting in the low-lying London basin, and the tiny flecks of sooty carbon, belched out by several million coal-burning home fires and factories.

The year of the Queen's ascent to the throne, 1952, saw the 'Great Smog'. It's estimated that around 25,000 Londoners were killed by the toxic pall that fell upon us between December 5 and 9, in that year. Many more will have become ill, have crashed their cars, or spent hours waiting for trains that never arrived.

If all Londoners had a miserable time with the fog, East Enders had it worst of all. We know, of course, that the prevailing winds, blowing from West to East in Britain, tended to blow the filth of the city our way. We also know that the East Ends of most British cities, tended as a result to become home to the poorest.

Rollo Russell, son of prime minister Lord Russell, was a meteorologist, appalled by the effect the fogs had on the East End. He wrote in the 1870s that the prevailing winds caused East Enders to 'present an unhealthy appearance unlike that of the country population'.

The evils were physical, psychological... even existential. Not only were we suffering lung diseases and bronchitis, but 'nervous disorders... effects upon the mind and spirits... weakening the system and shortening life... resulting frequently in a resort to alcohol... damage to eyesight... accidents by railway, road and river'.

Calling her book 'a biography' seems somehow appropriate, for the fog becomes a character in the lives of East Enders, malevolent, poisonous yet very familiar...

A policeman takes precautionary measures on duty in foggy London and often viewed with affectionate humour. Londoner Bob Hope, transplanted to the balmy climes of California, is dismissive of the Sunshine State's fogs, calling them 'London fogs without the vitamins'.

Londoners, with their peculiarly inventive language, came up with a host of names for this curse. It only really began to appear with the Industrial Revolution of course, and the mass use of coal, and well into the 19th century there was still a linguistic confusion as to the distinction between smoke and fog (particularly for non-Londoners).

But by the middle of the 1800s we were talking about 'pea soupers' (a staple in those days for East Enders was a nourishing, filling and cheap broth of yellow peas, unlike the green variety we eat today). A 'London Particular' meanwhile was a dark brown Madeira wine imported solely for the London market. Thick, brown and often dangerous to the health... but London Particular was also slang for a mistress. By the 20th century, 'smoke' and 'fog' had become collapsed into 'smog'.

And this character appears again and again in fiction about London. Hugh Owen's short story from 1905, The Poison Cloud, describes a fog that starts as an inconvenience and then becomes something much more malevolent, foreign and deadly. It is the fault of 'foreign coal', imported by the thousands of tons through the docks at Wapping and the Isle of Dogs, that threatens London. And while Owen's middle class heroes hold their nerve, 'the starving hordes of the East End' prepare to loot and riot; it's only martial law that keeps the barely civilised Cockneys in check.

No coincidence that this was the year of the draconian Aliens Act, ostensibly designed to control immigration, but more directly to address the fears of mass Jewish immigration to the East End... the newcomers bringing revolution with them to Whitechapel and Shoreditch.

Joseph Conrad, himself an Eastern European who had washed up in Wapping, uses those London Particulars brilliantly in The Secret Agent, his tale of Eastern European revolutionaries in the capital. The terrorists slip unseen through our midst, hidden beneath a yellow blanket more effective than any disguise.

TS Eliot, an American who became more English than the rest of us, sees it as an integral element of London. In The Love Song Of J Alfred Prufrock, he describes:

*The yellow fog that rubs its back upon the window-panes,
The yellow smoke that rubs its muzzle on the window-panes,
Licked its tongue into the corners of the evening,
Lingered upon the pools that stand in drains...*

Surely James Herbert's 1975 chiller The Fog, although science fiction, was inspired by the pea-soupers of his Bethnal Green childhood spent helping his dad set up the market stall on those foggy Brick Lane mornings.

And that great chronicler of Cockney life, Charles Dickens, uses 'London ivy', as he dubs it, again and again to shroud and confuse the characters in Bleak House, The Old Curiosity Shop et al. Henry James, Oscar Wilde, Robert Louis Stevenson – all used the London fog as a character, a plot device, a shorthand for London itself.

It wasn't all fiction. Whoever Jack the Ripper may have been, he certainly committed his crimes at the 'height of London fog's density and frequency, in the late 1880s'. Commentators were not simply adding colour by portraying the murders as taking place under cover of a London Particular.

And if many 19th and 20th century artists were heading south to paint the limpid light of the Mediterranean, others were hopping off the boat at Wapping, easel and paints on their back, eager to capture the murk of London. Whistler and Monet painted London fogs with a fascination other artists reserved for Provence and Tuscany.

Then the skies cleared. In April 1956, the Russian premier, Marshal Bulganin, on an official visit to London, praised our clear and sunny weather. 'London fog seems to be a thing of the past,' he declared. Not quite. December 4, 1962 saw a fog that paralysed London, reminding The Evening Standard of the dark days of 1952. But the introduction of smokeless fuel meant it was a last gasp. By the mid-1960s, Londoners could breathe again.

Sexual health screenings at festivals increase by 250%

A RECORD number of festival-goers took advantage of sexual health screenings and free contraception at this year's Lovebox and Citadel.

More than 700 people accessed services at Barts Health clinic bus over three days between July 17 and 19 at Victoria Park.

Organised by Barts Health, Step Forward and Positive East, the hospital trust and charities reported a 250 per cent rise in screenings from the previous year.

The on-site bus provided condoms, STI screening, HIV testing and confidential advice.

These festival-goers got tested at Lovebox 2015

Barts sexual health advisor, Gary Huggan, said: "The overwhelming response at Lovebox shows us that we are taking the right approach by bringing our services directly to people, as well as continuing to give people the opportunity to access advice and screening in traditional clinics."

THIS bronze-finished sculpture of a hare sits proudly atop the pub of the same name in Cambridge Heath Road, Bethnal Green. It is there thanks to a simple conversation between regular Stephen Garrett, 34, and landlord Julian Apperley.

Mr Apperley commissioned the artwork after hearing Stephen – a regular at the Hare – was working on a sculpture for a steak restaurant in Marylebone. The hare, which is 3ft tall, took four months to make.

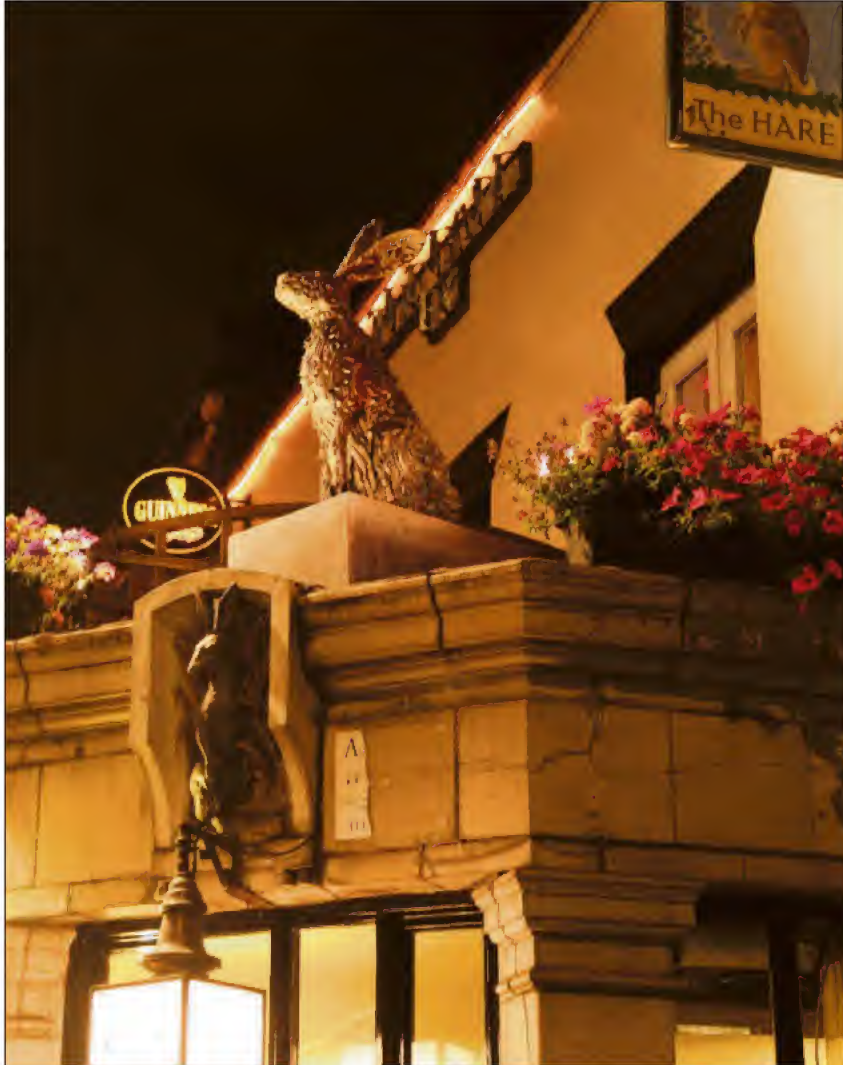

“We got talking one day about a gift bear sculpture I was making for a restaurant and he (Julian) said he wanted a hare above the pub,” said Stephen.

“He wanted something modern with a classical twist.

“Unveiling it was quite nerve-racking as it is my local pub, and has been for the last 13 years.”

The former teacher and technician described it as one of the last remaining “traditional east London boozers”. The Hare is at 505 Cambridge Heath Road, E2.

News in brief

জ্যাক দ্যা রিপার মিউজিয়াম সম্পর্কে মেয়রের বিবৃতি

টাওয়ার হ্যামলেটসের ক্যাবল স্ট্রিটে বিতর্কিত জ্যাক দ্যা রিপার মিউজিয়াম সম্পর্কে সংবাদ মাধ্যমে প্রদত্ত এক বিবৃতিতে মেয়র জন বিগস বলেন, এই বারায় নারীদের ঐতিহাসিক ভূমিকাকে তুলে ধরার পরিবর্তে জ্যাক দ্যা রিপার মিউজিয়াম খেলার সিদ্ধান্ত খুবই হতাশাজনক। এটা পরিষ্কার যে, আবেদনকারী কাউন্সিলের প্র্যানিং ডিপার্টমেন্টকে বিভ্রান্ত করেছিলো। স্থানীয় কমিউনিটির উদ্বেগ ও উৎকর্ষা সম্পর্কে আমরা সম্পূর্ণত ওয়াকিবহাল আছি।

মেয়র বলেন, “এই মিউজিয়াম যে দিকে দৃষ্টি দেয়ার কথা ছিলো, তা থেকে লক্ষ্যনীয়ভাবে পরিবর্তন ঘটায় আমি এর উদ্বেগবোধী অনুষ্ঠানে না যাওয়ার সিদ্ধান্ত নিয়েছি। কেন এবং কিভাবে মিউজিয়ামের প্রকৃতিতে পরিবর্তন আনা হলো, সেব্যাপারে এর মালিকের কাছে পরিষ্কার ব্যাখ্যা চাইবো।”

মেয়র আরো বলেন, প্র্যানিং অনুমোদন শর্তাবলী অনুযায়ী মিউজিয়ামের সাইন স্থাপন করা হচ্ছে কি-না, তা প্র্যানিং অফিসাররা খতিয়ে দেখবেন। এছাড়া মিউজিয়ামের ওয়েবসাইটে উল্লেখিত ওপেনিং টাইম, যা অরিজিনাল প্র্যানিং এপ্রিকেশনের সাথে সামঞ্জস্যপূর্ণ নয়, সেব্যাপারেও যথাযথ পদক্ষেপ নেয়া হবে।

ওয়াটস্ কন্সট্রাকশনের সহযোগিতা

টাওয়ার হ্যামলেটস্ কাউন্সিলের আহ্বানে সাড়া দিয়ে ওয়াটস্ কন্সট্রাকশন স্বেচ্ছা শ্রমে হোয়াইটচ্যাপল এলাকা একটি পরিবারের বসত ঘরকে রিডেকোরেট করে দিয়েছে। ডাম্প ও মলড এর কারণে ঘরটিতে বসবাস করা বেশ কঠিন হয়ে ওঠছিলো।

ওয়াটস্ কন্সট্রাকশন ফার্মটি এই এলাকায় বিভিন্ন প্রকল্পে কাজ করেছে এবং কমিউনিটির কল্যাণে ভূমিকা রাখতে তারা কাউন্সিলের কাছে অগ্রাহ্য ব্যক্ত করে। যখন ঘরটি সংস্কার ও পূর্ণসজ্জিত করণ প্রজেক্ট নিয়ে তাদের সাথে আলোচনা করা হয়, তখন তারা আনন্দের সাথেই এই চ্যালেঞ্জ গ্রহণ করে।

ঘরের ভেতরে ডাম্প ও মলড সমস্যা প্রকট আকার ধারণ করলে এবং এতে বসবাসকারীদের পক্ষে এই সমস্যা দূরীকরণের মতো আর্থিক সামর্থ্য না থাকায় তারা কাউন্সিলের সহযোগিতা চেয়ে আবেদন করে। ওয়াটস্ কন্সট্রাকশন এর কর্মীরা শ্রমশীল্যে সমস্যা সমাধান করে পুরো ঘরটি পুনরায় রং করে দেন।

Council strategy to end youth violence – page 7

সমাজ বিরোধী গ্রুপ এবং উচ্ছৃঙ্খল তরুণদের দ্বারা সংঘটিত গুরুতর সহিংসতা মোকাবেলায় নতুন কর্মকৌশল গ্রহণ করেছে টাওয়ার হ্যামলেটস্ কাউন্সিল।

আইন প্রয়োগকারী এজেন্সিগুলোর সাথে পার্টনারশীপের ভিত্তিতে নতুন এই কর্মকৌশল বাস্তবায়ন করা হবে। বারার উঠতি বয়সী ছেলেমেয়েদের সকল ধরনের শোষণ, সহিংসতা ও অবমাননার হাত থেকে রক্ষা করাই এই কর্মকৌশলের প্রধানতম লক্ষ্য।

জনসম্মুখে যেকোন ধরনের বিদ্বেষ সৃষ্টির তৎপরতা ও সম্ভাব্য অপরাধমূলক কার্যকলাপ রোধকল্পে এই নীতিমালা কার্যকর হবে। বিশেষ করে নারী ও মেয়েদের বিরুদ্ধে সহিংস আচরণ, শিশুদের যৌন হয়রানী, মৌলবাদের বিস্তার ও উগ্রবাদ, সকল ধরনের ঘৃণাজনিত অপরাধ এবং

মদ ও মাদকের অপব্যবহারের সাথে সংশ্লিষ্ট ইস্যুগুলোতে নজর দেয়া হবে।

মেয়র, জন বিগস বলেন, এই বারায় বসবাসকারী, এখানে বেড়াতে কিংবা কাজ করতে আসা লোকজনের ওপর সহিংস আচরণ কিংবা ঘৃণা জনিত অপরাধ যারা করবে, তাদেরকে কোনভাবেই বরদাশত করা হবে না।

তিনি বলেন, আমরা আমাদের পার্টনার বা সহযোগীদের সাথে নিয়ে সকল কমিউনিটির জন্য টাওয়ার হ্যামলেটসকে নিরাপদ ও সংযোজক জনপদ হিসেবে গড়ে তুলতে যা যা করা দরকার, তা করবো।

ডেপুটি মেয়র এবং কেবিনেট মেম্বর ফর কমিউনিটি এ্যাক্ফেসার্স, কাউন্সিলর শিরিয়া খাতুন বলেন, আমাদের অন্যতম অগ্রাধিকার কমিউনিটিগুলোর সার্বিক নিরাপত্তা নিশ্চিত করার ব্যাপারে

আমরা বদ্ধপরিকর। তিনি বলেন, আমাদের কিশোর তরুণ সম্প্রদায়ের সার্বিক নিরাপত্তা নিশ্চিত করতে এবং কমিউনিটিগুলোর নিরাপত্তা বিধানে নতুন এই উদ্যোগ চমৎকার কিছু রিসোর্স চলমান কার্যক্রমে সংযুক্ত করবে।

কম বয়সীদেরকে সহিংস আচরণে জড়িয়ে পড়া কিংবা এর শিকার হওয়া থেকে বাঁচাতে এই উদ্যোগে পুলিশ, এনএইচএস, হাউজিং ও অন্যান্য এজেন্সির কাছ থেকে গোয়েন্দা তথ্যাদি পাওয়া যাবে। যারা বার বার অপরাধমূলক কাজ করবে, তাদের বিরুদ্ধে আরো কঠোর পদক্ষেপ নেয়া হবে এই কর্মকৌশলের আওতায়।

যদি কেউ তাদের লাইফস্টাইল পরিবর্তন করে সমাজে ভালোভাবে বসবাস করতে চায়, তাদেরকে কর্মসংস্থান, স্বাস্থ্যসেবা ও হাউজিং সুবিধা প্রদান করা হবে।

Wine con merchant jailed – issue 1071

টাওয়ার হ্যামলেটস্ কাউন্সিল এবং স্কামবাস্টারস্ এর যৌথ প্রচেষ্টার ফলে ফাইন ওয়াইন এ বিনিয়োগের কথা বলে প্রতারণকারী এক ব্যক্তিকে জেল দন্ডে দণ্ডিত করা হয়েছে।

ক্যানরি ওয়ার্ল্ড এর ঠিকানা ব্যবহার করে স্পাইরোস কনস্টাসটিনোস নামের এই প্রতারক গত ৫ বছর ধরে আন্তর্জাতিক স্কাম বা প্রতারণা করে আসছিলো। নামী দামী ওয়াইন প্রস্তুতকারী কোম্পানীতে জীবনের সমুদয় সঞ্চয় বিনিয়োগ করলে, তা অনেক গুণ লাভ হিসেবে পাওয়ার কথা বলে সে লোকজনকে প্রতারণা করে

আসছিলো। ন্যাশনাল ট্রেডিং স্ট্যান্ডার্ড এর স্কামবাস্টার্স টিমের সাথে মিলে টাওয়ার হ্যামলেটস্ কাউন্সিলের ট্রেডিং স্ট্যান্ডার্ড টীম অনুসন্ধান শুরু করলে আন্তর্জাতিক এই জালিয়াত ধরা পড়ে।

অনুসন্ধানে দেখা যায় যে, ২০০৭ সালের সেপ্টেম্বর থেকে ২০১৩ সালের অক্টোবর পর্যন্ত সময় কালে কনস্টানটিনোস বিভিন্ন ভূয়া নাম ব্যবহার করে ২৩ জনের কাছ থেকে প্রায় ১ মিলিয়ন পাউন্ড হাতিয়ে নেয়, যারা মামলার গুনানিকালে আদালতে সাক্ষ্য দেন।

এই প্রতারকের খপ্পরে পড়ে সর্বশ্রম হারানোর

লোকের সংখ্যা ২০০ শতাধিক, যারা বেশি লাভের আশায় তার বিভিন্ন ব্যাংক একাউন্টে কম করে হলেও ৮ মিলিয়ন পাউন্ড জমা দেয়। এ ব্যাপারে তদন্তকারী সংস্থা তিন শতাধিক অভিযোগ পায়।

গত ২৯ জুলাই বুধবার ওল্ড বেইলি আদালতে অভিযুক্ত কনস্টানটিনোস এর বিরুদ্ধে আনা ১০টি অভিযোগ প্রমাণিত হলে, তাকে ৮ বছরের কারাদন্ড দেয়া হয়। ২০১২ সালের আগস্ট মাসে প্রথম অভিযোগ পাওয়ার পর অনুসন্ধান কার্যক্রম শুরু হয় এবং ২০১৩ সালের ফেব্রুয়ারী মাসে তাকে গ্রেফতার করা হয়।

TWO scourges of modern day London life are being met head on by the Griffin Community Trust.

It was set up 27 years ago to enrich the lives of senior citizens and medical students by fostering a sense of community between the two groups.

And today it is finding its services more relevant than ever as it sets about trying to do something to help young people unable to afford their own homes in the capital, while also helping elderly residents who are isolated and seeking companionship.

East End Life visited the project, which is not only helping to forge strong links between young and older generations but also giving a group of medical and dental students an opportunity to rent accommodation at about half of the average market rate.

The idea is beautifully simple. The Trust provides residential accommodation for medical and dental students from Barts and The London School of Medicine and Dentistry. The students, in return, spend time with residents at Shaftesbury Lodge, a warden controlled housing scheme for older people, next door to the student accommodation block in Poplar.

Students are charged £76 per week rent, inclusive of bills and they volunteer at least one hour of each week to befriend an older person and help organise a programme of social events for both groups to enjoy together.

These include an annual garden party, a Christmas party, trips to the theatre, afternoon tea at top London hotels, flower arranging sessions and video evenings, which have fostered enduring friendships between young and old.

Young at heart

A community trust has come up with a way to tackle the problems of housing costs for young people and isolation among the elderly, as Jessica Odubayo reports.

Jimmy Butler, 85, and his 86-year-old wife Hilda moved to Shaftesbury Lodge about a year ago. They were 'matched' with students Joe and Abbey who regularly visit for a chat and to share a laugh and jokes.

"We talk about lots of things including our families and politics. The students are both down to earth young people and we've been to many places together, including Southend," Hilda said.

Jimmy said the student visitors helped keep him young at heart.

The students are always very helpful to residents

... It is great they have a chance to meet with younger people."

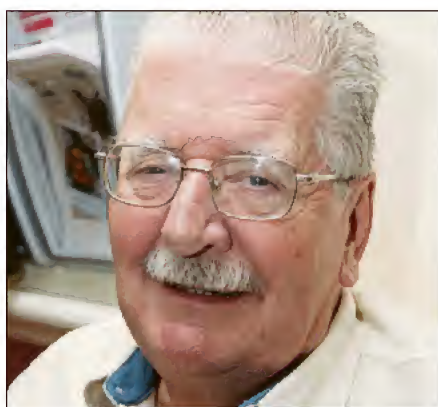

Jean Thompson

Bernie Martin, 71, agreed. "We are very fortunate to have the students assigned to Shaftesbury Lodge," he said.

"They are always friendly and understanding of our needs. We are involved in the planning of activities but appreciate the free time they give up in order to visit and arrange fun nights.

"We've had film evenings, met wild animals, made pizzas, and done flower arranging, all of which have been enjoyable and entertaining.

"Outings have also included afternoon tea at the Dorchester and aboard a river boat, theatre trips and an evening at Brick Lane Music Hall."

Margaret Schofield, 77, used to run a pub in Harford Street, Stepney, and has lived at Shaftesbury Lodge since October last year, where she has been introduced to Emily.

"I couldn't have come to a better place," Margaret said.

"My daughters are away but Emily chats to me about her life - she is like a daughter to me and my own daughters love her."

Parmella Cowie said dental student Armadeep pops in regularly for a chat.

She added: "He tells me about his family who are originally from India, and he wants to know about my family who originate from Trinidad. We talk about our life experiences and I take part in the activities."

The positive effects are apparent to relatives of those living at the lodge, too.

Jean Thompson, whose mother Patricia, 94, said the students had given her mum the opportunity to experience activities such as afternoon tea and music hall entertainment. Jean escorts her mum on many of the outings, too.

She said: "Much effort is put into organising these events. Having to fit this into their studies must at times be difficult.

"The students are always very helpful to residents and it is great they have a chance to meet with and experience being with younger people. I cannot speak highly enough of the students who have visited my mother."

"I am very grateful to those who established the Griffin trust. I feel very fortunate that my mother has been able to experience such an amazing project."

Reggie Gordon, 80, lived in a three-bedroom maisonette in Poplar before he moved to Shaftesbury lodge two years ago. He said being paired with trainee surgeon Chris had given him someone to have cup of tea and chat with.

Former seaman Cliff Moore has lived in Australia, Africa, and America and loves sharing tales of his travels with the students.

"They are a very nice bunch of people," 83-year-old Cliff said.

Above from far left: a resident enjoys a trip out; summer proves a good excuse for a party; students take some time out to socialise with the residents; Margaret Schofield, Kieran and Parmella Cowie; blooming good fun (top); Kieran Gohel-Andrews with Patricia Thompson and her daughter Jean

Dental student Kieran Gohel-Andrews who is student chair of the Griffin Community Trust said there was fierce competition for accommodation at Griffin House.

"This year, there were 59 applications for just four places."

Kieran, who is matched with Joyce Fletcher, added: "We chat about life, about Joyce's experiences during the Second World War, and about social issues.

"What is nice is to see residents as people, not as patients. It is a different side to life. It is nice to see the community spirit is back."

Co-chair Rebekah Hadley said the trust had added a new dimension to student life.

She said: "For the residents I hope it offers some new opportunities for fun.

"We can offer residents as much or as little involvement as they wish and, with the students staying for several years, we can build some really strong bonds."

■ A grant from the Marie-Celeste Samaritan Society, charitable donations and rent proceeds from Griffin House help fund the running of Griffin Community Trust and the activities at Shaftesbury Lodge.

Out & About

EUROPE'S largest Wurlitzer theatre pipe organ will be brought back to life with a concert by award-winning players.

After six years of painstaking, labour by the Cinema Organ Society, the 1,700-pipe instrument has been restored its former glory – ready for its first super cinema appearance in more than four decades at the Troxy in Commercial Road, Stepney.

A Night of 1,000 Pipes will feature internationally acclaimed organists Richard Hills and Robert Wolfe.

The organ was brought to the UK from the US in 1930 when it took up residence in Trocadero's super cinema in Elephant & Castle until it closed in 1963.

From there it went into storage before being installed at the South Bank University, until 2004. The restoration project began when it moved to the Troxy in 2010.

Hunt for home theatre venues

Your house or flat can host a own unique stage production

BY MELANIE YEA

THEATRE Royal Stratford East is looking for a new home – well 30 new homes.

After its success in 2013, Home Theatre (UK) is back for the second time to grace the residences of Londoners, half of whom will not be regular theatre-goers.

It is looking for flats and houses around London to play host to 30 bespoke, one-person performances.

Artists will take inspiration for their stories from the venue's host before a free performance on Saturday, October 17 to an invited audience of family and friends.

Home Theatre (UK), which this year is being funded by The Gulbenkian Foundation and The Gibbs Charitable Trust, first took place in London during 2013 and is being produced again by Theatre Royal Stratford East in partnership with Festival Internacional de Cenas em Casa.

Kerry Michael, artistic director of Theatre Royal, said: "Since 2013 we have been working on Home Theatre, which is all about opening up theatre to new audiences in innovative ways. The latest installation will bring 30 theatre makers into 30 homes across the capital and create bespoke theatre experiences."

Performance artist Suhaiyla Hippolyte, who staged one of the performances in 2013, said: "Home Theatre was one the most intense weeks of my life."

Following the performances Theatre Royal Stratford East will host a symposium on Monday, October 19 when a variety of masterclasses and workshops will be delivered by some of the practitioners involved in the international Home Theatre collective, along with others who take theatre into people's homes.

All 30 performances will then be broadcast on stratfordeast.com on Saturday, October 31 and Sunday, November 1.

Theatre Royal Stratford East is calling out for artists who have a history and interest in making theatre in people's homes or those who would like to find out more about the Home Theatre model to attend the day.

Members of the public wishing to take part can find out how to apply by visiting www.stratfordeast.com/home-theatre or by emailing home-theatreuk@stratfordeast.com to request an application form. The deadline for those interested in taking part in the project is Friday, August 21.

Artists who are interested in attending the symposium should e-mail hometheatreuk@stratfordeast.com

Eating out, eating in

Brick Lane hidden gem

BY GORDON BLUE

IF you remember Mr Ben then this place is a winner before you've even tried the food.

This gem of a restaurant is actually through a high-end fashion shop, so imagine the Silver Fox's Tom & Jerry-esque double-take expression when we cross over the threshold from clothes shop to twinkly, secreted restaurant!

We are warmly greeted with a delicious aperitif (made with Grey Goose vodka no less) and sat at a shared table.

Amuse-bouches of brie and potato croquettes have me teary-eyed before we've even started in earnest.

The interiors are rather gorgeous, with low-lighting, and interesting objets d'art.

The Silver Fox's starter of oysters served five ways was declared his best ever, and oh there've been a few: slipped into a bloody mary shot, crumbed and deep-fried, bedded with chorizo and chilli-bite after bite of oyster umami heaven.

My gazpacho with whole griddled asparagus and unctuous goat's cheese was also up there in the best starter's brigade.

The restaurant is tucked away out of sight behind a clothes shop

Why is it that even at this wisened age I am still shocked at the chilling of a soup even though forewarned is apparently forearmed?

My veggie main was a riot of flavour: deep smokiness of aubergine puree, alongside the surprising meatiness of slow cooked lentil ragout with a grilled gem lettuce atop.

The silver fox's seared tuna with bok choy and wasabi mayo was ample and delicious.

As we were on a roll, we indulged in puddings. Vanilla bavoroise – a symphony of creamy, wobbly vanilla bass notes crescendoed with a tart gooseberry compote.

The generous cheeseboard was from Neal's Yard.

As misanthropic as we can be, we enjoyed the shared space and made friends with Jono and Jen from Oz, among others.

We all agreed the head chef Fred Bolin is borderline genius.

The set menu is £30 for two courses or £35 for three, which includes a cocktail and amuse-bouche. The wine and cocktail list is extensive.

If you're looking for a special evening, that's quirky and memorable, look no further.

Caring for the canal

A GROUP of volunteers who care for canals and green spaces along the borough's waterways are in the running for a national award.

The Lower Regents Coalition (LRC) organises clean-ups, planting and wildlife protection events.

And as a result of all its good work, it has been nominated for the Canal & River Trust's Living Waterways Award, which recognises the most inspiring waterway-based projects across the UK.

The group was nominated for its Greening the Regent's project – a programme of enhancement events along the Regent's Canal, aimed at getting residents involved.

LRC volunteers get set to take to the water

It began in November 2014, when the Canal & River Trust drained a 900-metre stretch of the Regent's for the first time in a century, so it could repair its ageing canal walls.

The LRC, with support from London waterway charity

Thames21, Limehouse-based kayak hire Moo Canoes, Kier Construction and the Canal & River Trust, then staged eight clean-up events over six weeks.

Some 172 volunteers put in a total of 860 hours and removed countless bottles, cans and plastic bags as well as bulk rubbish including shopping trolleys, appliances, motorbikes and more than 120 tyres.

They also found an unexploded Second World War hand grenade and First World War-era bayonets among the ten tonnes of rubbish removed.

The next phase – launched with the help of a grant for more than £9,900 from the Tower Hill Trust – was used to install floating planters, lily pads and coir pallets seeded with reeds, sedges and iris in three areas near Ben Jonson Lock.

■ The LRC, along with Moo Canoes, will be at the Grand Union Place Estate's summer fun day in Stepney, on Saturday, August 15 from 12-4pm. The event is open to all.

DANCERS, face painters and mehndi artists were among the highlights which attracted more than 300 visitors to Tower Hamlets Community Housing's (THCH) annual Eid fun day at Minerva Community Centre.

Residents took part in workshops, including pottery with Stepney City Farm's resident potter, Jessica Joslin, alongside the various arts and crafts stalls on offer.

For the more energetic, there were shadow boxing taster sessions at a stall promoting Tower Hamlets new community boxing club.

THCH's community development officer Shema Khanam said: "It was great to see so many people really enjoy themselves – the arts and crafts stalls were really popular."

Ward continues title march

BY PETER FAULKNER

FORMER Repton star Martin J Ward continued his impressive march up the super-featherweight rankings and once again reinforced his case to be considered for a British title fight.

Ward, the reigning WBC international champion, was due to meet one-time world title challenger Daniel Diaz in Hull on August 1.

But the Nicaraguan pulled out so Ward took on Barcelona's Sergio Blanco instead.

Despite the change of opponent Ward won easily enough, getting the vote from all three judges to retain the title he won in April.

Afterwards, he tweeted all his fans, admitting he was not happy with his performance.

He said: "Not a great performance, but it's a fight I can learn from."

But having won by a unanimous decision Ward now looks set to move on to bigger and better things.

He is currently ninth in the British ratings so a shot at Stephen Smith's British crown cannot be too far away.

■ MARIANNE Marston will be keeping busy while waiting for a world title shot when she fights on the first York

Hall, Bethnal Green, show of the new season, on Saturday, August 29.

The British ranked number one and reigning MBC International super bantamweight champion, will meet a selected opponent as a warm-up for her winter world title challenge.

Marston, who trains at the TKO gym in Hackney, was discovered and coached by legendary heavyweight champion of the world Joe Frazier and two-time world cruiserweight champion Steve Cunningham.

She became the number one pound-for-pound ranked British female after her points victory over Hungary's Marianna Gulyas in October 2014.

That victory also sent Marston soaring up the world rankings from 58 to 24.

Football Lotus blossom

NEWCOMERS Lotus hit ten goals to snatch the Inner London Football League's Summer Premier Division in stunning fashion. They tore apart Weavers to win 10-0 and pip Robin Hood Tigers to the title on goal difference.

Tigers started the day at the summit and although they won 4-0 over Beaumont Youth, it wasn't enough – a case of déjà vu after losing the winter league title on the final day of the season, also on goal difference.

SCTA find their third-place in jeopardy. They lost their final game 3-0 against Reachout. If Reachout can win their last match by more than two goals they will finish in a respectable position.

The First Division is far from over as the top two have still to face each other. Arsenal finished with a fine 4-2 win over Inter Asia to secure third place. Riverside beat Boundary 3-1 to end their first 12 months on a high.

Players wanted

EAST London Ladies Football Club are recruiting players for the coming season.

The team, who play in Division 3 North of the Greater London Women's Football League, need players of all abilities.

East London Ladies also run free development sessions at Whitechapel Sports Centre every Monday, from 6pm-7pm to learn how to play and keep fit.

Tennis Classy Zahid

YOUNG tennis player Zahid Sufian from the Isle of Dogs has added another trophy to his growing collection.

Just a week after claiming his first grade 3 tournament, Zahid did it again, winning all of his nine matches at Billericay Lawn Tennis Club.

The eight-year-old showed great courage at 10-9 down to clinch the next three points for a dramatic 12-10 victory.

The girls training session

Rugby

MILLWALL Rugby Club staged their annual open day at Millwall Park and more than 150 people supported the event.

The supporters included Tower Hamlets mayor John Biggs and Jim Fitzpatrick, club president and MP for Poplar and Limehouse. Around 25 women took part in a girls tackling and passing session, before the main event of the day – a mixed friendly touch rugby tournament.

Scott Vinnicombe, the club youth chair and captain of the winning team, Simply Champagne, said: "We were undefeated in the pool phase, and won 4-3 after extra time in the final".

There was a barbecue and party in the clubhouse to end the day. Club communications director Andrew Hesselden said: "This is a big year for us and for Tower Hamlets as the UK plays host to the Rugby World Cup this Autumn. "As the only rugby club in the borough, we want to welcome new members, whether experienced or complete beginners." The club are based on the Isle of Dogs and their men's women's, youth and touch rugby teams train regularly at Millwall Park. NEWS FROM TOWER HAMLETS COUNCIL AND YOUR COMMUNITY

Midnight date with stardom

BY PETER FAULKNER

BASKETBALL-mad youngsters in Tower Hamlets who dream of being superstars, are being given a chance to bid for fame and fortune, right on their doorstep.

This Saturday, Stratford's Copper Box Arena stages a basketball competition with a difference featuring Midnight Madness.

Every year the team scours Britain for the best young talent. Winners of the competition get the chance to play in international tournaments.

This is the only London venue staging a qualifying round and has been selected because it is the home of London Lions, the top team in the capital.

The competitions often open doors for British players to launch careers in Europe and America, and have helped more than 200 players to turn professional over the last 15 years.

Dave Ajumobi from East London was one of the lucky ones recently chosen to represent Great Britain and travel with Midnight Madness to play in the Paris Quai World 54 Streetball Championship and German's Reality Check tournament.

A spokesman said: "Playing against tough competition abroad is every basketball players dream.

"Since Midnight Madness is free and available to everyone, it's a must that players sign up to show and prove their skills in this year's London qualifier.

"This is a real lifetime opportunity for someone to become a big star."
